The Marion County Grand Jury has returned eight indictments against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad for alleged discrimination in freight rates against the city of Lebanon.

Colonel Sam Stairs Saturday launched his Searchlight on an unsuspecting people. It is published at Dover, of handsome typographical appearance, and each of its twenty-four columns "chock full" of ideas—only ideas, without a practical peg to hang a jawbreaker on. It is a clever fellow, and THE LEDGER hopes he may have a whole lot of fun out of his venture—and all the money the Organizers will give him.

J. W. Gary, aged about 50 years, residing in the Sardis neighborhood, one of the best known citizens of this county, a man who was highly respected by all who knew him, died yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock of neuralgia of the heart after an illness of only two days. He leaves a wife and three children. The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, being conducted by Rev. J. D. Reed of the M. E. Church, South.

James Hason was one of the visitors to the Police Court yesterday, and he got $1 and costs for a plain drink.

Miss Nettie Robinson gave a Luncheon Last Night.

Miss Nettie Robinson, in honor of Miss Evaline Eastland of Danville, Miss Lulu Thompson of Paris and Miss Lizzie Jefferson of Lexington, all three the guests of Miss Jessie Peck, gave a luncheon last evening at her home on West Second street.

At 6 p. m. the first supper was for ten young ladies, and it was a grand affair.

At 10 p. m. the second supper was served for ten young gentlemen, who were invited to help the young ladies enjoy themselves, which they did, and when they all took their departure the vote of thanks to the fair hostess was tendered, it being to the effect that the luncheon was all that could be desired and their enjoyment had been more than they expected.

Tonight at Mrs. H. Duke Watson's residence on East Third street another evening of pleasure is to take place in honor of the same young ladies, at which the Maysville Orchestra will discourse the music.

The burglar was a negro ex-convict named Bird, who had been guilty of a number of daring robberies lately.

BASEBALL SATURDAY. The Season Not Yet Closed With the Smaller Boys.

The Young Regulars had decided to close their season of ball-playing last Saturday, but yesterday the Captains received a telephone communication from the Washington club for a game Saturday afternoon, which, after some consideration, was accepted, and on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock our citizens will be treated to a good game.

The Young Regulars will line up as follows: Pitcher—H. Fansler. Catcher—T. Watkins. First Base—J. Scott. Second Base—H. Wood. Short Stop—N. Rogers. Third Base—H. Furnell. Left Field—R. Childers. Center Field—E. Ott. Right Field—H. Helm. Substitute—K. Willett.

The Mascots of the Sixth Ward again defeated the Spaldings by a score of 8 to 5. Batteries—Mascots, Dunbar and Lloyd; Spaldings, Moss and Bierbowber. Pollitt at third and Lloyd behind the bat were the features of the game. Dunbar, the great left-handed twirler, was in the box for the Mascots, his pitching proving a great success.

The Mascots accept the Reacher's challenge.

ROB INGERSOLL'S VIEWS OF IT AND OTHER THINGS.

Some Pungent Deliverances by the Great Agnostic Show His Opinions Are Unchanged—Relentless on Religion.

Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll was interviewed the other day by a representative of The New York Herald, and in a lengthy talk answered a number of questions which the scribe put to him. The following is an extract of the article, the remaining parts being on such subjects as art, literature and other questions, in which the noted agnostic merely agreed with enlightened literary people of the day:

"Which do you regard as the better, Catholicism or Protestantism?" "Protestantism," says Colonel Ingersoll, "is better than Catholicism because there is less of it. Protestantism does not teach that a monk is better than a husband and father, that a nun is better than a mother. Protestants do not believe in the confessional. Neither do they pretend that Priests can forgive sins. Protestantism has few ceremonies and less opera bouffe, clothes, caps, diadems, mitres, crooks and holy tapers, which are an infallible man—an old Italian. Protestantism has an infallible book, written by Hebrews before they were civilized. The infallible man is generally wrong and the infallible book is filled with mistakes and contradictions. Catholicism and Protestantism are both enemies of intellectual freedom—of real education. The Catholic believes in education enough to make a Catholic of a savage, and the Protestant believes in education enough to make a Protestant of a fool. So there is less belief in education enough to make free men and women."

THINKS BOTH ARE AWFUL. "Nothing is more absurd than the Catholic creed, and I think that of the Protestants, and nothing can be more absurd than the Protestant creed, unless it be that of the Catholics. Both churches are the enemies of progress, and both sell sin and crime on credit. Both teach the doctrine of forgiveness. Both tell the murderer if he will only repent he will go straight from the scaffold to paradise. Both tell the thief that there will be more joy in heaven when he repents than over a hundred honest men. Both promise reward for belief and both threaten everlasting pain for those who think. The Catholics have always persecuted to the extent of their power; so have the Protestants. The Protestants say the Bible is the word of God, in Scotland, New England and the Catholics and the Catholics say the Pope is the word of God. He does not seem satisfied with standing in the place and stead of God in spiritual matters, but desires temporal power. He wishes to be Pope and King. He says that he has the right to control the belief of all the world; that he is the shepherd of all 'sheep' and that the fleeces belong to him. He thinks that in his keeping is the conscience of mankind. So he imagines that his blessings and curses are the fate of the world and that his prayers can change the course of natural events. He is a strange mixture of the serious and comical. He claims to represent God, and admits that he is almost a prisoner. There is something pathetic in the condition of this pontiff. When I think of him I think of Lear on the heath—old, broken, touched with insanity and yet, in his own opinion, 'shrouded in a King'."

"The Pope is a fragment, a remnant, a shred, a patch of the ancient power and glory. He is a survival of the unfittest, a souvenir of theocracy, a relic of the supernatural. Of course he will have a few successors, and they will become more and more comical, more and more helpless and impotent as the world grows wiser and free. I am not blaming the Pope. He was poisoned at the breast of his mother. Superstition was mingled with her milk. He was poisoned at school, taught to distrust his reason and to live by faith. And so it may be that his mind was so twisted and tortured out of shape that he now really believes that he is the infallible agent of an infallible God."

OPPOSES THE A. P. A. "Are you in favor of the A. P. A.?" "In this country I see no need of secret political societies. I think it better to fight in the open. I am a believer in religious liberty, in allowing all sects to preach their doctrines and to make as many converts as they can. As long as we have free speech and a free press I think there is no danger of the country being made up of Catholics. The Catholics are much better than their creed, and the same can be said of nearly all members of orthodox churches. A majority of American Catholics think a great deal more of this country than they do of their church. When they are in good health they are on our side. It is only when they are very sick that they turn their eyes toward Rome. If they were in the majority, of course, they would destroy all other churches, imprison, torture and kill all infidels.

"But they will never be in the majority. They increase now only because Catholics come from other countries. In a few years the supply will cease, and then the Catholic Church will grow weaker every day. The free secular school is the enemy of priestcraft and superstition, and the people of this country will never consent to the destruction of that institution. I want no man persecuted on account of his religion. I give to every other human being every right that I claim for myself."

THIS WORLD IS GETTING BETTER. "Do you believe that the race is growing more or less human?"

"The world is growing better. There is more real liberty, more thought, more intelligence than ever before. The world was never so charitable or generous as it is now. We do not put honest debtors in prison. We no longer believe in torture. Punishments are less severe. We place a higher value on human life. We are far kinder to animals. To this, however, there is one terrible exception. The victims of the slave trade are tortured and mutilated in the name of science, disgrace our age. They excite the horror and indignation of all good people. Leave out the actions of those wretches, and animals are better treated than ever before. So there is less beating of wives and whipping of children. The whip is no longer found in the civilized home. Intelligent parents now govern by kindness, love and reason. The standard of honor is more high, and men do not care as they agree. Man has more confidence in his fellowman, and in the goodness of human nature. Yes, the world is getting better, nobles and grander every day. We are more alike to the way of progress on our way to the Eden of the future."

"Are the doctrines of agnosticism gaining ground, or what, in your opinion, will be the future of the church?"

"There can be no doubt that the ideas of the agnostic are gaining ground. The scientific spirit has taken possession of the intellectual world. Theological studies are as unpopular today as they were in the Middle Ages. The attention of men everywhere is being directed to the affairs of this world, this life. The gods are growing indistinct, and, like the shapes of clouds, they are changing as they fade. The idea of special providence has been substantially abandoned. People are losing, and intelligent people have lost, confidence in prayer. Today no intelligent person believes in miracles—in the violation of the laws of nature. They may believe that there used to be miracles of a good while ago, but not now. The 'supernatural' is losing its power, its influence, and the church is growing weaker every day."

"The church is supported by the people, and in order to gain the support of the people it must reflect their ideas, their hopes and fears. As the people advance the creeds will be changed, either by changing the words or giving new meanings to the old words. The church, in order to live, must agree substantially with those who support it, and consequently it will change to any extent that may be necessary. If the church remains true to the old standards then it will lose the support of progressive people, and if the people generally advance the church will die. But my opinion is that it will slowly change, that the ministers will preach what the masses want to hear, and that the creed will be controlled by the contribution box. One of these days the preachers may become teachers, and when that happens the church will be of use."

DOCTOR MCGILLYN. The Eminent Catholic Priest Tells Some Sensible Truths. Dr. Edward McGillyn, a bright light of the Catholic Church, spoke on the A. P. A. in New York Sunday evening, and among other things said:

"Catholics are in some degree responsible for the existence of the A. P. A. There were many Priests, namely those of foreign birth, who were unfortunately interpenetrated in their discussions of the school questions. They cannot be discussed as the Tertius, and not with this terrible prejudice? Oh, the horror of this hate in the name of Christ!" Dr. McGillyn declared it was the duty of the Catholics to pay no attention to the A. P. A. as unwarranted. He said it was better to be ill than to be afflicted. It was their duty as Christians to turn the other cheek. The Catholic Church has no reason to be proud of all of its officeholders. To refuse to vote for a man because he is a Catholic is the duty of a Protestant. Dr. McGillyn declared to be an outrageous violation of American civic duty.

MURDER FOUL.

Elkhart, Ind., Excited Over a Horrible Mystery.

Body of an Unknown Man Found Covered With Gashly Wounds.

A Dose of Whiskey, One of Whose Victims Was Found Dead, Stripped and Buried Under a Mass of Rubbish.

ELKHART, Ind., Oct. 9.—The body of a man, covered with gashly wounds, is at the morgue in this city awaiting identification. A brutal murder was committed in the outskirts of this city at a late hour Monday evening.

After the assassin had stoned their victim to death, and with a car coupling pin had inflicted a dozen wounds, any one of which would have been sufficient to produce death, the murderer stripped the body, and after dragging it a distance of forty feet to a neighboring woods, buried the remains under a mass of rubbish and leaves, so as to remove from the pockets of their victim all valuables, and any evidence that would lead to his identification.

The murdered man made a fight for life, but his assailants, who are believed to be five in number, overpowered him, and in the unequal struggle his head was beaten to a pulp, and with sticks and stones and iron rods the body was cut and mangled until his identity will be difficult to establish.

The city Monday night is crazed with excitement, and thousands of people have viewed the murder scene. Chief Justice McLean and Judge Charles Kiel and Jacob Higgs, of Cleveland, are held at the police station as witnesses, having been summoned to render the murdered man assistance.

The murderers boarded a Lake Shore train and left the city for the west. The police have been unable to find them, and it is believed that they are not answer for their safety. The recovered man in the United States of good appearance, and his clothes which were found, indicated that he was in comfortable circumstances, and with these facts at hand, the theory is advanced that he was decoyed to his death.

A telegram from South Bend says that a man whose clothes are blood stained has been arrested on suspicion, and that a detail of officers are on the trail of the supposed murderers who have eluded capture.

Big Land Sale in Texas.

EL PASO, TEX., Oct. 9.—A big land sale was decided in the United States court Monday. It involved three hundred thousand acres of land valued at over $1,000,000 in the Yaleta grant, the title of which was disputed. The property was claimed under an old Spanish grant, but the Texas & Pacific road had patented a big slice of it from the state, and sold part to Chicago and New York people. Judge Macey decided the Spanish-Mexican grant in favor of the defendants.

United States Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The supreme court of the United States began its October term at noon Monday. All of the justices were present. Justice Jackson, who has been in poor health, is recovering rapidly and will be able to attend the sittings of the court. Fourteen attorneys from various parts of the country were admitted to the bar, and a number of minor cases were dismissed or advanced or made subject to motion under agreement of counsel. The court adjourned until Monday.

Drowned in a Land Bunker.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 9.—Thomas C. Smith, a colored infant, was drowned in a bucket of water in the back of a street. The vessel had been set in an out of the way place. The child was missing in the afternoon. The neighborhood was searched for him, but he was dragged to no avail. Finally two little boys were discovered poking out of the top of the bucket. The child had tumbled to the bucket and fallen in head foremost.

A Pennsylvania Bank Wrecked.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—James Willis, formerly bank cashier at Philadelphia, Pa., was arrested here Monday. It was said at police headquarters that the president of the Bloomfield bank is also under arrest in Pennsylvania, and that the alleged fraudulent operations of the bank officials had wrecked it. It was found that the funds in the bank only amounted to $200, when they should have been over $100,000.

Hurricane Drives Vessel Ashore.

MOSS POINT, Miss., Oct. 9.—A hurricane of terrific force, from the north-northeast, struck this section early Sunday night, and has been raging continuously ever since. No very great amount of damage has been done to shipping interests immediately in the river, but millions who are loading lumber lying out in the bay report several vessels ashore.

United States Marshal Shot.

CORVET, Ill., Oct. 9.—United States Marshal Otto Schmitt was fatally shot Monday at Albia by a pal of George Johnson. Ray had arrested Johnson for "book-lugging," and while they were on their way to the station Ray was shot in the back. Both men escaped.

Woman Fatally Killed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Mrs. M. Sharp, wife of E. A. Sharp, a station agent at the Northwestern railroad at Rogers Park, a suburb of Chicago, was fatally burned by her gown catching fire from a grate. Mrs. Harlett, a neighbor, was badly burned in an attempt to rescue her.

PRINTERS' STRIKE.

Again Whitehead Said to Be Trouble With Compositors on the Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The compositors of the Tribune office, who are members of the Typographical Union No. 6, walked out in a body at 10 o'clock Monday night in a sympathetic strike for the benefit of Stereotypers' Union No. 1 of this city, which belongs to the International Typographical union, the organization of which the Typographical union is a member.

Mr. Milholland thought the Tribune has been a union office from top to bottom since 1892, but the difficulty is that the strongest of the unions, the International Typographical union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, does not recognize the Knights of Labor as a "union" body. The stereotypers of the Tribune office belong to the Knights of Labor. The Tribune uses type machines, and it is O'Clock Mr. Milholland thought he had machine force enough to answer for the night.

At 12 o'clock Tuesday morning the printers returned to work, but the stereotypers' grievance against the Tribune remains just as it was before the strike.

IT IS CONSTITUTIONAL.

The South Carolina Supreme Court Declares the Dispensary Law.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 9.—When Gary, Tillman, succeeded McGowan on the supreme bench in August, Gov. Tillman promptly proclaimed the dispensary law of 1903 in operation again. The supreme court, however, in a decision handed down Monday, declared the law unconstitutional.

The effect of the decision will be that Gov. Tillman will now begin an active warfare against "blind tigers," which are saloons where the sale of whisky is made without license, and which have long molested since the act was declared unconstitutional.

What the saloon men had to be prohibited from doing was to have a concert of action in fighting the laws in the courts, but it is more than likely that under the new law, the theory is advanced that he was decoyed to his death.

A Telegram from South Bend says that a man whose clothes are blood stained has been arrested on suspicion, and that a detail of officers are on the trail of the supposed murderers who have eluded capture.

THREE TIMES

Was an Attempt Made to Bribe Lexow Counsel Goff.

He Was Offered $30,000 the First Time to Throw Up the Case.

Mr. Goff Refused to Listen to the Proposal, and Said He Would Not Agree to $30,000, and He Determined Now to Add His Testimony.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—It is said that three attempts have been made by Tammany hall officials to secure the withdrawal of John W. Goff from his position as counsel to the Lexow committee. The information is specific in detail and comes from sources which at least demand attention.

Mr. Goff was first approached, it is alleged, by a high Tammany official, who holds an elective office, and was offered $30,000 to throw up the case. It was urged that the committee was against him, and that he would be allowed to go only so far, and then a deal would be made and he would be shut out anyhow, and would gain nothing but a good name for his work. Mr. Goff refused to listen to the proposition, and the official, who had been his friend for years, retired.

The second attempt, according to the report, came some three weeks later, after Mr. Goff had borne down the opposition which had been made by Sutherland and some other seemed desirous to throw in his way, and had already shown that the probe was to be pushed in more vigorously. The third attempt was made, it is said, by a high Tammany official who wanted him out of the way.

The third and last time was last Thursday. On Wednesday night the Lexow committee had a meeting, and Mr. Goff was present. He was given the proposition, and he was asked if he would accept the nomination he would receive no opposition from the hall.

With Goff a candidate for mayor, endorsed by Tammany, he must have been tied hand and foot from "going up higher," and again he refused. More than that, he was angry and resolved to add his testimony to that of other witnesses against Tammany's management before the work of the committee was concluded.

Alarming Tidings Received About the Case From Livadia.

BREITLIT, Oct. 9.—The Schlesische Zeitung publishes a dispatch from St. Petersburg, which says that a sudden change for the worse has taken place in the condition of the czar. The dispatch states that the minister of war has ordered prayers for the preservation of the life of the czar to be offered up in all the garbion and regimental churches, and that order is said to be due to a telegram received direct from Livadia and stating that the czar's illness has taken a disquieting turn. Painting fits are reported to have supervised and to have rendered an operation immediately necessary.

It is stated that the czar's condition is such that a sudden change for the worse has taken place in the condition of the czar.
